Revenue Act of 1936, c. 690, 49 Stat. 1648:

SEC. 26. CREDITS OF CORPORATIONS.

In the case of a corporation the following credits shall be allowed to the extent provided in the various sections imposing tax—

(c) Contracts Restricting Payment of Dividends.—

(1) Prohibition on payment of dividends.—An amount equal to the excess of the adjusted net income over the aggregate of the amounts which can be distributed within the taxable year as dividends without violating a provision of a written contract executed by the corporation prior to May 1, 1936, which provision expressly deals with the payment of dividends. If a corporation would be entitled to a credit under this paragraph because of a contract provision and also to one or more credits because of other contract provisions, only the largest of such credits shall be allowed, and for such purpose if two or more credits are equal in amount only one shall be taken into account.

(2) Disposition of profits of taxable year.—An amount equal to the portion of the earnings and profits of the taxable year which is required (by a provision of a written contract executed by the corporation prior to May 1, 1936, which provision expressly deals with the disposition of earnings and profits of the taxable year) to be paid within the taxable year in discharge of a debt, or to be irrevocably set aside within the taxable year for the discharge of a debt; to the extent that such amount has been so paid or set aside. For the purposes of this paragraph, a requirement to pay or set aside an amount equal to a percentage of earnings and profits shall be considered a requirement to pay or set aside such percentage of earnings and profits. As used in this paragraph, the word "debt" does not include a debt incurred after April 30, 1936.

Treasury Regulations 94, promulgated under the Revenue Act of 1936:

ART. 26-2. Credit in connection with contracts restricting payment of dividends.—(a) The credit provided in section 26 (c) with respect to contracts restricting the payment of dividends is not available under every contract which might operate to restrict the payment of dividends, but only with respect to those provisions of written contracts executed by the corporation prior to May 1, 1936, which satisfy the conditions prescribed in the Act. The charter of a corporation does not constitute a written contract executed by the corporation within the meaning of section 26 (c). The provisions recognized by the Act are of two general types, as follows:

- (1) Those which come within section 26 (e) (1), in that they prohibit or limit the payment of dividends during the taxable year; and
- (2) Those which come within section 26 (e) (2), in that they require the payment, or irrevocable setting aside, within the taxable year, of a specified portion of the earnings or profits of the taxable year for the discharge of a debt incurred on or before April 30, 1936.

If a corporation is restricted with respect to the payment of dividends by two or more contract provisions coming within section 26 (c) (1), only the largest of the credits computed with respect to each of such provisions, and not their sum, shall be allowable under section 26 (c) (1) and, for such purpose, if two or more credits are equal in amount, only one shall be taken into account. However, section 26 (c) (3) provides that if both section 26 (c) (1) and section 26 (c) (2) apply, only the one of such paragraphs which allows the greater credit shall be applied, and, if the credit allowable under each paragraph is the same, only one of such paragraphs shall be applied.

(b) Prohibition on payment of dividends.—The credit provided in section 26 (c) (1) is allowable only with respect to a written contract executed by the corporation prior to May 1, 1936, which expressly deals with the payment of dividends and operates as a legal restriction upon the corporation as to the amounts which it can distribute within the taxable year as dividends. If an amount can be distributed within the taxable year as a dividend—

(1) in one form (as, for example, in stock or bonds of the corporation) without violating the provisions of a contract, but cannot be distributed within the taxable year as a dividend in another form (as, for example, in cash) without violating such provisions, or

(2) at one time (as, for example, during the last half of the taxable year) without violating the provisions of a contract, but cannot be distributed as a dividend at another time within the taxable year (as, for example, during the first half of the taxable year) without violating such provision—then the amount is one which, under section 26 (c) (1), can be distributed within the taxable year as a dividend without violating such provisions.

The credit provided in section 26 (c) (1) is equal to the excess of the adjusted net income, as defined in section 14 (a), over the aggregate of the amounts which can be distributed within the taxable year without violating the provisions of such contract. The requirement that the provisions of the contract expressly deal with the payment of dividends is not met in case (1) a corporation is merely required to set aside periodically a sum to retire its bonds, or (2) the contract merely provides that while its bonds are outstanding the current assets shall not be reduced below a specified amount.

(c) Disposition of profits of taxable year.—Under the provisions of section 26 (c) (2), a corporation is allowed a credit in an amount equal to that portion of the earnings and profits of the taxable year which, by the terms of a written contract executed by the corporation prior to May 1, 1936, and expressly dealing with the disposition of the earnings and profits of the taxable year, it is required within the taxable year to pay in, or irrevocably to set aside for, the discharge of a debt incurred on or before April 30, 1936. The credit is limited to that amount which is actually so paid or irrevocably set aside during the taxable year pursuant to the requirements of such a contract.

Only a contractual provision which expressly deals with the disposition of the earnings and profits of the taxable year shall be recognized as a basis for the credit provided in section 26 (c) (2). A corporation having outstanding bonds is not entitled to a credit under a provision merely requiring it, for example, (1) to retire annually a certain percentage or amount of such bonds, (2) to maintain a sinking fund sufficient to retire all or a certain percentage of such bonds by maturity, (3) to pay into a sinking fund for the retirement of such bonds a specified amount per thousand feet of timber cut or per ton of coal mined, or (4) to pay into a sinking fund for the retirement of such bonds an amount equal to a certain percentage of gross sales or gross income. Such provisions do not expressly deal with the disposition of earnings and profits of the taxable year. A contractual provision, however, shall not be considered as not expressly dealing with the disposition of earnings and profits of the taxable year merely because it deals with such earnings and profits in terms of "net income," "net earnings," or "net profits."

The term "debt" as used in section 26 (c) (2) does not include an obligation of the corporation to a shareholder, as such, as distinguished from a creditor. Accordingly, amounts paid into, or set aside for, a sinking fund by a corporation for the retirement of preferred stock, pursuant to the terms of an agreement underlying the preferred stock issue, shall not be considered as set aside for discharge of a debt. An indebtedness evidenced by bonds or other similar obligations issued by a corporation is incurred as of the date such obligations are issued, and the amount of such indebtedness is the amount represented by the face value of the obligations. For the purpose of this article a bond or other similar obligation is not issued until it is executed and delivered to a person who holds it as a debt of the corporation. Bonds issued after April 30, 1936, in exchange in refunding a preexisting issue represent debts incurred after April 30, 1936, within the meaning of section 26 (c) (2).
